

About Our School

William Patten Primary school is a large and vibrant two form primary school in Stoke Newington. Our staff and pupils work hard together and consequently make the school one of the most oversubscribed in Hackney. We are seeking to appoint teachers who share our passion for teaching.

We pride ourselves on our inclusive approach that ensures all children learn in a way that they enjoy and enables them to succeed. Our children are happy, well-behaved and keen to learn. We value the excitement such a culturally diverse community brings to the children's education.

We are looking to recruit talented teachers to join our school community. You will play a key role in providing the best possible standards of teaching and learning for our pupils. This is an exciting opportunity for an inspirational, motivated and ambitious practitioner.

Posts may be in any Key stage and initial contracts will be for a temporary one year post. As well as an attractive starting salary, with the potential for a TLR, we offer excellent professional development and training opportunities. We are committed to supporting and developing both our staff and children, and have created a warm and welcoming environment.

We are seeking candidates who:

- Are already outstanding classroom practitioners or have the capacity to become outstanding teachers
- Will motivate and inspire our children
- Have a natural tendency to work collaboratively with others and are team players
- Are well organised with excellent communication skills
- Have the ability and desire to participate in the full life of our school

In return we will offer you:

- A warm and welcoming environment built on strong relationships and the desire to ensure all children succeed
- A committed, hardworking and supportive staff team
- The opportunity to work with children who are: friendly, inquisitive, engaged in their learning, self-assured and well-behaved
- An experienced leadership team, who encourage teachers to be individuals and reflect on what works well within their classroom
- The opportunity to participate in a full programme of CPD to support the school's commitment to professional development at all levels

· The opportunity to work with very supportive parents, a committed Governing Body and the wider community
